

qb_init()

This function is called for every thread once before executing the algorithm. This is to allow developers to do pre-initialization such as opening a database.